

Unemployment Cost Management Wage Audit Solutions

Wage audits are a critical tool for states looking to help reduce improper payments. Yet for many employers, responding to wage audit requests is becoming more cumbersome. Many states are no longer willing to accept data that is not delivered in the format specified, and there are various penalties and risks associated with incomplete or untimely wage audit responses.

We Get It		We Got It
Too much information Many states are no longer willing to accept payroll information that isn't aligned to the specific dates requested.		Our wage audit solution delivers a specific audit response to each wage audit request in the date range requested by the state agency.
Format States often require that responses be delivered in a specific format (usually Sunday to Saturday) that often does not match employer pay periods.		Our proprietary, real-time, rules-based database maintains response requirements from each state, producing wage audit responses in the required format.
Truncated SSN States are issuing wage audits with truncated SSN, creating additional work to match with the right employee.		Our claims database is second to none, offering an efficient, automated resource for matching claimant data to the audit request.

The Wage Audit solution from Equifax delivers a platform that helps employers reduce the burden of response and meet the wage audit obligations of the state agencies. Coupled with reporting functionality for improved oversight, both the fully-automated service, and our prompted, online workflow, help deliver process improvement and resource efficiency to employers looking for relief from tedious wage audit tasks:

AUTOMATED: With a few adaptations to a base file feed, your payroll data can be sent to Equifax and the wage audit responses extracted and dispatched back to the state agency.

WEB MODULE: A prompted workflow that facilitates entry of required data based on the audit request to produce a compliant response back to the state agency.
