

Carla J. Chaney

EVP and Chief Human Resources Officer

Carla Chaney is Chief Human Resources Officer at Equifax. Chaney has global accountability for the Human Resources function, focusing on attracting, retaining and developing our people, and supporting a high-performance culture where diverse talent thrives.

Prior to Equifax, Chaney served as Executive Vice President, Human Resources & Communications, at Graphic Packaging International, with a significant portion of her role focused on building and developing talent to ensure the company's profitable growth. During her tenure at Graphic Packaging, the company successfully transformed its portfolio through acquisitions and innovation, moving into a global packaging leadership position. Before Graphic Packaging, Carla held U.S. and international-based executive roles at Exide Technologies, Newell Rubbermaid, and Georgia Pacific.

Carla is currently a Board member for the Atlanta-based Russell Innovation Center for Entrepreneurs (RICE), whose focus is inspiring and empowering black entrepreneurs.

Chaney earned her bachelor's degree in industrial and labor relations from Cornell University. She also completed the Chief Human Resources Officer Development program at Cornell.