

International Business Reports

Protect your business with comprehensive checks on the financial status of internationally-based suppliers and customers

Exporting and trading with worldwide businesses offers great opportunities for U.S. companies. It can help accelerate growth, stabilize demand, increase profits and offer direct access to untapped markets. Yet, it can quickly harm your business if potential customers and suppliers are not financially sound.

With Equifax, it's easier than ever to check the credit and financial status of businesses outside the U.S. through our robust International Business Reports. You can intelligently, securely and profitably expand your business with comprehensive access to fresh business data from more than 200 countries, including emerging economies such as China, India and Russia.
