  - These data are population level – not a sample.
  - Jointly held accounts are represented by a randomly selected borrower on the account. Tradelines are only counted once.
  - Exclusions for data quality are applied, such as timely reporting of the establishment of the trade ( $\leq 12$  months); completeness of the tradeline record including type, credit limit, balance outstanding and status; and other similar filters (e.g., exclude if borrower's death reported).

› Definitions: Other

- Credit limit: the maximum amount the borrower can access on the account. On installment accounts this is the original loan amount. On revolving accounts this is also known as the credit line or high credit.
- Subprime: a loan characterized by a combination of factors that make it not-prime-credit quality, meaning that these loans will typically have higher default rates and higher loss rates on average than prime-quality loans from the same vintage. Within this report these are defined as loans extended to borrowers who at the time the loan was originated had a VantageScore® 3.0 credit score below 620.

› Data on new tradeline originations are subject to revision for up to 12 months due to lags in lenders and servicers reporting to Equifax.

- Data for the most recent 12 months are grossed up for expected but as yet unreported new loans.
- First Mortgage trade lines may be most affected by delays as servicing rights as well as the loans themselves are frequently sold after origination.
- With the exception of first mortgage and home equity installment loans, at least 90% of expected new tradelines will have been recorded for the most recent month included in this report (e.g., October 2017 origination data in the October 2018 report).
- Note that in February 2017 we permanently moved accounts that were previously identified incorrectly as home equity installment loans to consumer finance installment loans, affecting values after April 2014.
