Verification benefits

Verifying an individual's status as an enrolled student or recent graduate may be critical to conducting business in a variety of instances. The need for a third-party solution that can deliver a verification of education instantly and electronically is more important than ever.

For industries, such as auto and insurance or telecommunications that offer products, services and/or incentives based on education status, verifying an individual's education is crucial to determining program eligibility. For others, such as credit card issuers and consumer finance, verifying education can help be the determining factor in whether or not a consumer qualifies for certain financing.

Education data is sourced from the National Student Clearinghouse (NSC). NSC is a nonprofit and nongovernmental organization with 3,600+ participating colleges and universities. Per NSC, 99% of students in public and private institutions enrolled are in the NSC database.

All the Verification of Education solutions also include Consumer Identity which contains certain consumer information that can be used to help detect possible or known identity theft and application fraud.
