

Technology Platforms and The Work Number

Streamline your process and drive efficiency

As lending becomes increasingly competitive and consumers are demanding a faster, more efficient experience that reduces paperwork, you need tools that help you move faster and provide access to borrower data in real-time, anytime — within your existing platforms.

Lenders have the choice to access integrated employer-provided income and employment data from The Work Number® directly from Equifax OR through our connections with industry-leading technology platforms.

Potential benefits of accessing The Work Number through your technology provider:

- ✔ Shorten funding times: Having access to all your decisioning data in one place can help eliminate multiple logins, platforms and manual workflows to increase efficiency.
- ✔ Lend more confidently: Focus on increasing capture rate and booking deals with fewer human errors by having access to employer-provided data in your technology platform.
- ✔ Enable a digital-first experience: With digital self-service tools, borrowers can complete the application on their own time, while you reduce the paperwork and provide a better experience.
- ✔ Gain automation: Your Loan Origination System (LOS) may have the ability to automate and help reduce stipulation verifications to get the borrower a clean, quick response and better overall experience.

Often, the integration has already been done and no technology development effort is required! To get started, simply request your integration credentials to start consuming The Work Number products through your preferred technology provider.

The Work Number

The Work Number database offers credentialed verifiers with permissible purpose access to more than 136 million active employment records, provided directly from over 2.5 million employers.

Our digital verifications offer instant data with little, if any, additional action from the applicant. Paperless documentation that flows directly into automated underwriting and benefits decisioning platforms can ease customer and administrative burdens.

Connect with a representative to learn more about our products and the different ways you can access The Work Number.

We are integrated with more than 60 technology providers!

